the self transforming school combines an insightful meta analysis of factors contributing to the success of schools and an examination of powerful mega trends that are shaping developments in education to offer the first mega analysis in education policy and practice the book spans fifty years beginning with caldwell and spinks ground breaking work the self managing school which advocated innovative approaches that are now accepted as preferred practice before offering a prognosis and plan for the future the book argues that all schools in all settings can secure success for all students in an era where society and the economy are changing constantly and dramatically although schools find some support in local and global networks externally designed re structuring re staffing or command and control direction isn t sufficient to achieve transformation instead of replicating particular approaches to achieve modest improvement leadership of the highest quality needs to be deeply embedded in schools and their systems caldwell and spinks propose three important points that need to be taken into consideration schools are often at different stages of self transformation self transformation requires a high level of professionalism and must include teacher education and on going professional development funding is critically important and efforts to build a capacity for self transformation are constrained by what is available the book gives particular attention to developments in australia brazil canada england finland hong kong india new zealand shanghai singapore and the united states it will be of key interest to school leaders policy makers and academics and postgraduate students engaged in research on equity student performance in highly disadvantaged settings and education policy school reform in an era of standardization explores how teachers and school based administrators navigate the processes of accountability and standardization in schooling systems and settings it provides clear insights into how the work and learning of teachers and students in schools have been dramatically reconstituted by increased pressures of external political scrutiny and accountability the book reveals in detail the nature and effects of standardization processes upon schools and schooling systems specifically it shows how curriculum development teaching and assessment practices have all been recalibrated under conditions of increased external scrutiny of teacher and student work and learning and how such processes are manifest in curriculum dominated by attention to literacy and numeracy more scripted pedagogies and standardized testing however the research not only elaborates the detrimental effects of such processes but also how those responsible for educating in schools teachers heads of curriculum deputy principals and principals have responded proactively by interpreting interrogating and challenging these conditions in this way it provides resources for hope evidence of what are described as more authentic accountabilities and at the same time it provides a clear portrait of the difficulty of fostering substantive curriculum teaching and assessment reform during an era of increasingly reductive accountability processes it will be an invaluable resource for understanding and enhancing practices in schools and school systems in the decades to come and for giving hope to educators in the ongoing work of rebuilding trust in public education it is easy to underestimate the impact that school organisation has on the behaviour effectiveness engagement and creativity of the teachers staff and students who work within it it also has a marked effect on the well being of staff members and how families and the community relate to the school attempts to improve school organisation are often short term initiatives that only cover only one or two aspects of what it takes to organise a school effectively improving schools using systems leadership in contrast provides those involved in the design and delivery of educational services with a coherent and easy to follow framework to help run an effective organisation based on theory real data on education improvements at school and regional level and
